York on Sunday, brings interesting details 9 and 10 A. M., and they were taken charge of the Nashville and Harvey Birch affair, of by the United States consul there. Reof which we have already published a brief peatedly while on board the steamer, in telegraphic account. The Nashville ran the Charleston block she was not fitted out as a vessel of war, and cloudy, but just as she was crossing the of her. I was told by one of the crew that bar the weather cleared up, and the moon rose brightly, lighting up in full view to the | Charleston, S. C., to go to Liverpool, but eastward, distant about four miles, two that before sailing the officers were all steamers of the blockeding squadron—one the United States steam frigate Susquehan. changed, and new articles were brought on board, which the crew were compelled to nn, of twelve guns, the other a powerful sign by threats of force. I was also inpropeller gun-boat. The Nashville, being formed that the crew was composed of No. 2, Standard Shuttle Machine, formerly under the hand and from the moon, was not seen by them. She then encountered strong | barometer belonging to the Harvey Birch northeasterly winds and very heavy seas, were taken by Capt. Pegram, who refuses but made the passage to Bermuda in three and a half days.

She remained in the vicinity of Bermuda for several days, and then sailed on a cruise. Nothing of interest happened until she met with the ship Hervey Birch, on the 19th of November. The particulars of the cap ture and destruction of the latter vessel are thus given by the Southampton correspondent of the London Times: About 8 o'clock last Tuesday morning, (19th October) when in latitude 49° 6' N., longitude 9° 52' W., the Nashville fell in with the American ship Harvey Birch, Captain Nelson, bound from Havre to New York in ballast, with the American flag flying. OFFICE, 56 WALL AND 61 PINH STA, NAW YORK, the ran alongside her, as was stated to us, opened her ports and ordered the ship to heave to, the flag to be hauled down, and the captain to come on board immediately. turned to his ship with orders from the captain of the Nashville for all the crew to get their things ready as soon as possible, and go on board the Nashville, as they intended Ail Directors must be Shareholders. to destroy the Harvey Birch. They were allowed an hour or an hour and a half for this purpose and got part of their things out. The men from the steamer took most of the provisions, with the ship's chronome-ter, barometer, and some of the charts, perof the provisions, with the ship's chronomemitting Captain Nelson to retain his own chronometer, but he has lost $1,200 or $1, 100 worth of personal effects, books, charts etc. They then set fire to the ship fore and ift, apparently in the deck house, and the ve-sel was soon in flames fom stem to stern. The three masts were seen to go over the side, and the hall was still burning when he steamer left her. The Harvey Birch was a full rigged ship, of 1,780 tons, Amer-a an measurement, and cost about $125,000 n her construction. She had a total of twenty-nine souls on board, including Mr. Blydenburg, (a son of her owner,) who was a passenger, Capt. Nelson, two mates, two boatswains, cook, steward, carpenter, and ROBT BUCHANAN, Esq. THOMPSON NEAVE, Esq. twenty semmen. The men were put in irons on board the steamer (with the exception of the captain and mate, who were treated with great politeness,) and kept as prisoners until the arrival of the vessel here this morning, when they were immediately landed in the docks and set at fiberty, with all the personal effects belonging to them. It is stated that, before they were put in irons, the confederate onth was tendered to the to the lighest confidence. men, which they refused to take; but Capt.

fact, although it may be correct. Immediately on landing, Captain Nelson waited upon Captain Brition, the American consul at this port, who has caused the erew to be temporarily boarded at the Sailor's Home, and made arrangements for them to be forwarded home to New York in the Hans's steamer, which sails hence on Wednesday next. Captain Britton has also put himself in communication with Mr. Adams, the American minister in London, and made that gentleman acquainted with all the facts of the case. On leaving the Nashville, Captain Pegram told Captain Nelson that he hoped they would not part bad friends, for what had been done was a simple act of retaliation on the northern states for invading their territories, burning their houses, ill treating their women and FINE MILITARY SUITS. stealing their negroes, and they were bound to retaliste on the property of the north in every way they could. About 12 o'clock the Nashville steamed into dock, where, as mentioned above, she now lies; and, soon after she was berthed, Uapt. Parley, the admiralty superintendent of mail packets at this port, went on bonid and had an interview with the Captain. Col. Peyton, an agent of the southern confederey, and his wife, were on board the Nashville, and left for London on the 3

Nelson tells us that he is not aware of the

The Captain states that the Nashville has put in here to have her top-deck taken off, and to be fitted out as a vessel of war; but how far this intention will be found to square with the legal and international bearings of the case, remains to be seen .-The arrival of the vessel here, under the circumstances, and her lauding prisoners of war as they are called, is looked upon by many persons as an infraction of the Queen's prochamation of neutrality .--Groups of politicians and commercial men have been actively dicussing the knotty points involved in the question, and sundry messages have passed up and down the telegrabh wires during the day in relation to the subject. It is stated she has some spare officers on board for ships building or preparing in England for the confeder

After arriving on board of the steamer we saw that the Harvey Birch was in flames and the second lieutenant returned on board the steamer with his boat, which was seenred, but the ship's quarter boats, which had been used in communicating, we're east adrift. Capt. Pegram now said, "Now as it is all over, we will give her a gun," or words to that effect, and a gun was discharged at her, but apparently without hitting her. The steamer was then put on Ambrotype, Photograph an easterly course, the crew of the ship having been previously put in irons. I, with my officers, was summoned to the captain's cabin, and there signed at the request of the captain, a document stating that we would not take up arms against them while in their custody, he having said that I and my officers should have our liberty on board when we had signed it. DAILY GAZETTE.

The Nashville and the Harvey Birch.

The steamer Africa, which reached New York on Sunday, brings interesting details of the Nashville and Harvey Birch affair, of which we have already published a brief peatedly while on board the steamer, in telegraphic account.

The Nashville ran the Charleston blockide on the night of the 26th of October -rose brightly, lighting up in full view to the eastward, distant about four miles, two steamers of the blockading squadron—one the United States steam frigate Susqueban-na, of twelve guns, the other a powerful propeller gun-boat. The Nashville, being under the land and from the moon, was not seen by them. She then encountered strong northeasterly winds and very heavy seas, but made the passage to Bermuda in three and a half days.

She remained in the vicinity of Bermuda for several days, and then sailed on a cruise. Nothing of interest happened until she met with the ship Hervey Birch, on the 19th of November. The particulars of the cap-ture and destruction of the latter vessel are thus given by the Southampton correspon-dent of the London Times:

About 8 o'clock last Tuesday morning, (19th October) when in latitude 49° 6′ N., longitude 9° 52′ W., the Nashville fell in with the American ship Harvey Birch, Cap-tain Nelson, bound from Havre to New York in ballast, with the American flag flying. the ran alongside her, as was stated to us, opened her ports and ordered the ship to leave to, the flag to be hauled down, and he captain to come on board immediately. This was done, and Captain Nelson soon returned to his ship with orders from the cap-tain of the Nashville for all the crew to get their things ready as soon as possible, and go on board the Nashville, as they intended to destroy the Harvey Birch. They were allowed an hour or an hour and a half for this purpose and got part of their things. out. The men from the steamer took most of the provisions, with the ship's chronometer, barometer, and some of the charts, per-mitting Captain Nelson to retain his own thronometer, but he has lost $1,200 or $1, 100 worth of personal effects, books, charts etc. They then set fire to the ship fore and aft, apparently in the deck house, and the vessel was soon in flames for stem to stern The three masts were seen to go over the side, and the bull was still burning when the steamer left her. The Harvey Birch was a toll rigged ship, of 1,780 tons, American measurement, and cost about $125,000 n her construction. She had a total of wenty-nine souls on board, including Mr Blydenburg, (a son of her owner,) who was a passenger, Capt. Nelson, two mates, two boatswains, cook, steward, carpenter, and twenty seamen. The men were put in irons on board the steamer (with the exception of the captain and mate, who were treated with great politeness,) and kept as prisoners until the arrival of the vessel here this mor ning, when they were immediately landed in the docks and set at liberty, with all the personal effects belonging to them. It is stated that, before they were put in irons, the confederate oath was tendered to the men, which they refused to take; but Capt. Nelson tells us that he is not aware of the fact, although it may be correct.

Immediately on landing, Captain Nelson waited upon Captain Britton, the American consul at this port, who has caused the erew to be temporarily boarded at the Sallor's Home, and made arrangements for them to be forwarded home to New York in the Hansa steamer, which sails hence on Wednesday next. Captain Britton has also put himself in communication with Mr. Adams, the American minister in London, and made that gentleman acquainted with all the facts of the case. On leaving the Nashville, Captain Pegram told Captain Nelson that he hoped they would not part bad friends, for what had been done was a simple act of retaliation on the northern states for invading their territories, hurning their houses, ill treating their women and stealing their negroes, and they were bound to retaliate on the property of the north in every way they could.

About 12 o'clock the Nashville steamed into dock, where, as mentioned above, she now lies; and, soon after she was berilied. Capt. Parley, the admiralty superintendent of mail packets at this port, went on board and had an interview with the Captain. Col. Peyton, an agent of the southern confedercy, and his wife, were on board the Nashville, and left for London on the 3

elock train. The Captain states that the Nashville has put in here to have her top-deck taken off, and to be fitted out as a vessel of war but how far this intention will be found to square with the legal and international bearings of the case, remains to be seen.—
The arrival of the vessel here, under the circumstances, and her lauding prisoners of war as they are called, is looked upon h many persons as an infraction of the Queen's proclamation of neutrality.— Groups of politicians and commercial men have been actively dicussing the knotty points involved in the question, and sundry messages have passed up and down the telegrabh wires during the day in relation to the subject. It is stated she has some spare officers on board for ships building or preparing in England for the confeder ate navy.

PROTEST OF CAPT. NELSON. Capt. Nelson's account of the capture of his ship is embraced in his published protest. In most respects it agreees with Pegram's statement, but asserts that the latter made no claim that the Nashville he longed to the confederate navy. We quote the material portions of the protest.

After arriving on board of the steamer we saw that the Harvey Birch was in flumes and the second lieutenant returned on board the steamer with his boat, which was secured, but the ship's quarter boats, which had been used in communicating, we're cast adrift. Capt. Pegram now said, "Now as it is all over, we will give her a gun," or words to that effect, and a gun was discharged at her but, now words to that charged at her, but apparently without hit-ting her. The steamer was then put on an casterly course, the crew of the ship having been previously put in irons. I, with my officers, was summoned to the captain's cabin, and there signed at the request of the captain, a document stating that we would not take up arms against them while in their custody, he having said that I and my officers should have our liberty on board when we had signed it. I was frequently told that an oath would be exacted of us "not to take up arms against the confederate states" before I could be liberated, but I was liberated without any

The ateamer steamed up the English Channel, and arrived at Southampton at about 8 A. M., on the 21st inst., and came to anchor in the river. Capt. Pegram then told me that I and my crow were at liberty and might go on sucre, but he refused to put us on shore, and I therefore employed steam tug at my own expense, and landed my crew in Southampton docks between 9 and 10 A. M., and they were taken charge of by the United States consul there. Reconversations with her officers, I was told she was not fitted out as a vessel of war, that she was on a special message to Eng-When she started the weather was thick land, but naval officers were in command and cloudy, but just as she was crossing the but the weather cleared up, and the moon the crew originally signed articles at the crew originally signed articles at Charleston, S. C., to go to Liverpool, but that before sailing the officers were all changed, and new articles were brought on board, which the crew were compelled to sign by threats of force. I was also in-formed that the crew was composed of English and Irish. The chronemeter and barometer belonging to the Harvey Birch

We have made the above Reduction in Prices with the two-fold view of benefitting the public and ourselves. The public have been swindled by spurious machines made in Indiadon of ours. The metal in them, from the fron casting to the smallest piece, is of poor quality. Their makers have not the means to do their work well. They are hid away in secret places, where it would be impossible to have at their command the proper mechanical appliances. It is only by doing a great business, and having extensive manufacturing establishments, that good machines can be made at moderate prices. The best designed machines, Badly blade, are always it able to get out of orier, and are sure to cost considerable trouble and money to keep them in repair. The qualities to be looked for in a machine are: certainly of correct action at all rates of specif, simulating fromstruction, great drarbible for and reporting of control action. The qualities, mass be made of the best metal and finished to perfection. We have the ways and means, on a grand scale, to do this.

The purchasers of machines, whose daily broad it may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as store tates of speed, but lard long in the finest possible working order. Our machines, as made by us, will earn more money with less labor than any others, whether its initiation of ours or not. In fact, they are cheaper than any other machine as a gift.

The Worshippers of Slavery Alarmed.

"Abolition," "Abolition," The baboli tionists are for this measure or against that," is the burden of the cry of the semi-secession sheets all over the country. They have forgotten the rebels, who have committed every crime and outrage against the constitution, the laws and the rights of man, and turn their exclusive attention to maligning those who are in favor of putting an end to civil war, by a vigorous use of all means that will aid in accomplishing that purpose. These people, who are nothing if they are no politicians, bute the abolitionists as they call all true men in favor of killing the cause of the rebellion, now that it has given us the opportunity, just in proportion to their: friendship to Jeff. Davis and his minious, and in the revival of their old party grudges they have not only forgotten the rebels, but no longer remember their country. They eagerly desire to re-establish their old defunct party organization, by which they hope to thrive and prosper, whether the country lives or dies.

The newspapers which indulge in this species of warfare are precisely those which have been most suspected of disloyaby to the country, from the beginning of the rebellion, and their renewed energy for evil at this time, grows out of the belief that they have found the means of dividing the loyal people of the country, in the proseention of the war, and that slavery can thus be saved from destruction. As usual the cap ital is the negro, and how to dispose of him. Without this subject, so fertile in exciting passion and prejudice, they would have no foundation for a party in the future, and every proposition to dispose of him forever, and get him out of our polities entirely, meets their frantic opposition.

powerless, what would become of them; Their nearest and dearest friend being dead, the orphans of a rotten old party would go about mourning for something wherewith to gain public attention, that the "loaves and fishes" might again be theirs. They shrick at the abolitionists with a note of despair quite pitiable, every time it is proposed to take the slaves away from their tebel innaters. Though they see the negro used against us in every possible way that men can be employed in war, they are horrified at the thought of touching him. Let him feed his master, that that master may have time to shoot our soldiers; let the slave build forts to shield traitors; let him stand in the ranks and fire vollies at our patriotic volunteers; but don't you touch him for that, you "abolitionists." The poor devotees of Juggernaut, or believers in the sacred alligator, do not look with more superstitious devotion upon their "institutions" than the American pro-slavery partisan does upon his god-Slavery. Though it crushes his brother he will cling to it-though it devours, with its insatiable and cruel jaws, his country and everything dear to bim, he forgets all else, and rushes to its defence when it is threatened. But, thank God, the number of those weak enough to be deluded into the ranks of the worshippers of American slavery, is lessening rapidly every day; and the time will soon come when the "howling Dervises" of a pro-slavery party will ery "abolition" in vain to a people who will appreciate, and therefore despise them.

Neutrality and Friendship. One of Jeff. Davis' pirates having overtaken an unarmed American vessel, makes prisoners of the crew, robs them of their property and turns the ship. He then sails with his plunder into an English port. where he is received, protected, and all attempts of the American captain to obtain his property from the robbers, by English law, is denied. This is English friendship towards us. The neutrality consists in placing insurgents upon an equality with his discourse .- Worcester Spy. 2d. with the regular government-in regarding the American nation with its immenso commerce and numerous ships, as of no more consequence, and entitled to no more respect, than a band of rebels, without commerce, and possessing no ships, except delay, to make preparations for our other

The Mason and Slidell case in Eng-

As was naturally to be expected, the publie mind was somewhat excited in England, upon learning of the forcible seizure of Mason and Slidell on board the British steamer Trent. 'We think it will turn out, bowever, that the meeting in Liverpool on the receipt of the news, was instigated by secesion emissaries, and their sympathisers. They would naturally take advantage of such an occurrance and make the most of it for their own advantage. It will be seen that opinions were not unanimous that the alleged outrage was of such a nature as to | mail steamer!! A public meeting will be demand immediate reparation, and the original resolution was considerably modified. John Bull will take time to consider, and may cool his passion by reading the history of his own acts, on occasions similar to that which transpired between the San Jacinto and the Trent. It will, doubtless, give us the renewal of abusive editorials in the Times and the tory papers generally, against this country, but nothing serious will grow out of it, unless England is determined to quarrel with us. The question of our right to capture Ma son and Slidell, in the manner in which it was done, has already been decided by the English government in our favor. It was given by the Queen's Law Officers in referonce to the U.S. steamer James Adger, which has been cruising in British waters, for the purpose, as is supposed, of intercepting the confederate ministers, who, it was thought, would come out on the Nashville. The decision referred to is as follows:

"It was the opinion of the law officers of the crown that, according to the interpretation of the law as laid down in former decisions, the relations of Britain to the American belligerents are perhaps such that there might have been sair legal grounds for the American cruiser seizing the mail deamer as a price even in British waters, if it could have been shown that she knowing ly harbored the persons and properly of one mies of the United States in the shape of he delegates and their dispatches."

It will be scarcely possible for the captain of the Trent to assume that he did not know that Mason and Slidell were rebel delegates or ministers, for it was known to the British consul at Havans, and to the public generally at that place. As to the dispatches, even if none were found, it cannot make the slightest difference whether was made on the recommendation of Min they were written or verbal. That Mason ister Adams. and Slidell went to Europe as the agents of the robel government, is admitted in Jeff. the English government will take serious exceptions to the act of Com. Wilkes.

To-Day's Report. [Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.] MORNING DESPATCHES.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. The Hansa brings the London Times o the 28th, which contains the account of the meeting in Liverpool. The following placard/was posted on change: "Outrage on the British flag! Southern commissioners forcibly removed from a British held in the cotton sales room at 3 o'clock.' The room was crowded to excess. The chair was occupied by James Spence, who read the following resolution: Resolved, That this meeting, having heard with indignation, that an American federal ship of war has forcibly taken from a British mail steamer, certain passengers peaceably under the shelter of our flag, from one neutral port to another, do earnestly call upon the government to assert the dignity of the British flag, by requiring prompt reparation for this outrage.

This resolution was received with greaenthusiasm. This resolution was advocated by the chairman, who considered he was expressing the feeling of the people, when he said it was the duty of the people to impress on the government the importance and necessity of vindicating the honor and dignity of the British name and flag. Mr. John Campbell considered there was reason to doubt whether the facts related and acted on by this meeting were in reality a breach of international law, and referred to the opinions of the law officers o the crown, as being in some measure in clined to show that such a step as taker with respect to southern commissioners, wa justifiable under the existing state of inter national law, and urged the propriety of postponing the consideration of the subjec till to-morrow. Mr. Low sustained Mr. Campbell's views

The chairman suggested that to meet the objection of Mr. Campbell, to strike out the words, "by requiring prompt reparation for this outrage," and thus as amended the res olution passed almost unanimously. Several merchants expressed their yiew after the adjournment, that the meeting an its action was premature. In reply to the application of Capt. Ne

The legal course would have been to bring the ship itself into port for adjudication. It concludes with the expression that Englishmen will discuss the question with calminess and appeals to the federal states not to provoke war by such nets. Secretary Cameron promptly referred the letter to Gen. The gun-boat Dacotah arrived at St. Thomas on the 23d, and was dispatched with coal and provisions for the froquois, but missed her.

Capt. Dupont, in his communication to the navy department, dated Dec. 4th, says: The apprehension of losing possession of the bay of St. Helens, so exceedingly valuable for a harbor for its proximity to the city of Charleston, and for the command it secures of large rivers supplying the interior communication with South Carolina, induced him to despatch a second expedition there, under Commander Drayton, with or ders to hold the island until Gen. Sherman is prepared to assume military occupation of it, when he will transfer the fort to his troops. It seems to be understood, in addition to our occupation of Beaufort, Gen. Vielle was at once to be sent with a considerable force to occupy the most important point on the new approaches to Sa vannah, and that another force will go about the same time on a similar errand, in the direction of Charleston, to hold certain stragetic points.

CHEERING WORDS. - The Paris Presse of the latest date received, in an article exposing the untruth of the stories put forth by the rebel emissaries in Europe, has these ignificant sentences concerning the chance of foreign interference in our affairs:

"May the sentiments not displease its enemies, but the great republic of the United States will not yet perish. People will think twice, we may hope, before attacking her. We have got beyond the time when Polish partitions could be made. Oligarchic factions may for a season throw a country into confusion, but they can neither sell nor irredeemably ruin it. Nations now belong to themselves, and are not to be governed, except on condition of listening to and working towards their interest-that is to say, except on condition of realizing democracy. A war with America, whatever may be the pretext, would be disastrous for all who should take part in it. It would for a long time be the total ruin of all international commerce with that country, and America would find in the very reverses that might at first befall her arms a new stimulus that would energetically push it to eek out and bring into play the immense resources she possesses. By obliging her to know herself better, and to use the for-ces she has, we should strengthen in place of weakening America."

AN INCIDENT ON THE "KEERS."-A YOUNG lady from the rural district of Hoosierdom. lately visited Chicago with her beau. Getting into a city railroad car for the first time, she took a sent, while her lover planted himself on the platform with the driver. Pretty soon the conductor began to collect fare, and approaching the rustic maiden, he said-

"Your fare, miss!" The Hoosier rosebud allowed a delicate bink to manifest itself on her cheeks, and ooked down in soft confusion. The conductor was rather astonished at this, but ventured to remark once more— "Your fare, miss!"

This time the pink deepened to carnaion, as the rustic beauty replied :

"Wull, if I am good lookin', you hadn't ought ter say it out loud afore folks!"

The passengers roared with laughter, and the lover coming in to see what was going on, at once settled the fare.

ARRESTS FOR TREASON IN MICHIGAN.-We understand that three men, charged with treason, were last week arrested by the United States marshal, in Lapeer county, and taken to Fort Lafayette. One of them is said to have objected to being handcuffed, when the marshal told him he could take his choice between the contents of a revolver or being handcuffed, when the contumacious traitor permitted himself to be shackled. We understand that these men were proven to be disloyal by certain which, of course, never reached their destination, but went to the dead letter office, when their treasonable contents were known and their authors ordered to be "nabbed.' From Fort Pickens.

At last we have reliable news from Fort Pickens. . The result of the fight, so far as it had progressed, was favorable to our side. Fort McRae was silenced, and Barraneas is at Col. Brown's mercy. Warrington and nearly all the navy yard was destroyed .-Only one person was killed by the enemy's fire. When reinforcements arrive to occupy the captured forts, Col. Brown will finish up the job. The Worshippers of Slavery Alarmed.

"Abolition." "Abolition." The abolitionists are for this measure or against that." is the burden of the cry of the semi-secession sheets all over the country. They have forgotten the rebels, who have committed every crime and outrace against the constitation, the laws and the rights of man, and turn their exclusive attention to maligning those who are in favor of putting an end to civil war, by a vigorous use of all means that will aid in accomplishing that purpose. These people, who are nothing if they are not politicians, bate the abelitionists as they call all true men in favor of killing the cause of the rebellion, now that it has given us the opportunity, just in proportion to their: friendship to Jeff. Davis and his minious, and in the revival of their old party grudges they have not only forgotten the rebels, but no louger remember their country. They eagerly desire to re-establish their old defunct party organization, by which they hope to thrive and prosper, whether the country lives or dies.

The newspapers which indulge in this species of warfare are precisely those which have been most suspected of disloyalty to the country, from the beginning of the rebellion, and their renewed energy for evil at this time, grows out of the belief that they have found the means of dividing the loyal people of the country, in the prosecution of the war, and that slavery can thus be saved from destruction. As usual the capital is the negro, and how to dispose of him. Without this subject, so fertile in exciting passion and prejudice, they would have no foundation for a party in the future, and every propoistion to dispose of him forever, and get him out of our polities entirely, meets their frantic opposition.

Should the war end slavery, or make it powerless, what would become of them? Their nearest and dearest friend being dead, the orphans of a rotten old party would go about mourning for something wherewith to gain public attention, that the "loaves holding receptions at Baltimore. A party and fishes" might again be tasirs. They was lately given in her honor, at which all morefavorable turn. posed to take the slaves away from their rebel masters. Though they see the negro used against us in every possible way that men can be employed in war, they are horrified at the thought of touching him. Let him feed his master, that that master may have time to shoot our soldiers; let the slave build forts to shield traitors; let him stand in the ranks and fire vollies at our patriotic volunteers; but don't you touch him for that, you "abolitionists."

The poor devotees of Juggernaut, or believers in the sacred alligator, do not look with more superstitious devotion upon their "institutious" than the American pro-slavery partisan does upon his god-Slavery. Though it crushes his brother he will cling to it-though it devours, with its insatiable and crue! jaws, his country and everything dear to him, he forgets all else, and rushes to its defence when it is threatened. But, thank God, the number of those weak enough to be deluded into the ranks of the worshippers of American slavery, is lessening rapidly every day; and the time will soon come when the "howling Dervises" of a pro-slavery party will cry "abolition" in vain to a people who will appreciate, and therefore despise them.

Nentrality and Friendship.

One of Jeff. Davis' pirates having overtaken an unarmed American vessel, makes prisoners of the crew, robs them of their property and burns the ship. He then mission to controvert that sentiment. He sails with his plunder into an English port, where he is received, protected, and all attempts of the American captain to obtain his property from the robbers, by English law, is denied. This is English friendship towards us. The neutrality consists in placing insurgents upon an equality with the regular government-in regarding the American nation with its immense commerce and numerous ships, as of no more consequence, and entitled to no more respect, than a band of rebels, without commerce, and possessing no ships, except those they have stolen. It strikes us that such friendship as this is like that which seeks a good opportunity to stab us "under the fifth rib," and the neutrality is so perpsudicular that "it leans over the other way." It should be a reminder to our government to dispose of the rebels without delay, to make preparations for our other "friends" who are coming. The governor of Minnesota has been au-The governor of Minnesota has been authorized by the war department to organize the young shoulders on which the armor of B fifth regiment from that state.

To Day's Report. Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.

MORNING DESPATCHES. NEW YORK, Dec. 12. The Hansa brings the London Times of the meeting in Liverpool. The following placard was posted on change: "Outrage on the British flag! Southern commis sioners forcibly removed from a British mail steamer!! A public meeting will be held in the cotton sales room at 3 o'clock. The room was crowded to excess. The chair was occupied by James Spence, who read the following resolution: Resolved, That this meeting, having heard with indignation, that an American federal ship of war has forcibly taken from a British mail steamer, certain passengers peaceably under the shelter of our flag from one neutral port to another, do ear nestly call upon the government to assert the dignity of the British flag, by requiring prompt reparation for this outrage.

This resolution was received with great enthusiasm. This resolution was advocated by the chairman, who considered he wa expressing the feeling of the people, when he said it was the duty of the people to was done, has already been decided by the was done, has already been decided by the impress on the government the importance English government in our favor. It was and necessity of vindicating the honor and dignity of the British name and flag.

Mr. John Campbell considered there was once to the U.S. steamer James Adger, reason to doubt whether the facts related which has been cruising in British waters, and acted on by this meeting were in reality a breach of international law, and refor the purpose, as is supposed, of intercepting the confederate ministers, who, it was ferred to the opinious of the law efficers of the crown, as being in some measure in thought, would come out on the Nashville. clined to show that such a step as taken with respect to southern commissioners, was justifiable under the existing state of inter "It was the opinion of the law officers of the crown that, according to the interpreta-tion of the law as laid down in former denational law, and orged the propriety o postponing the consideration of the subject cisions, the relations of Britain to the till to-morrow. American belligerents are perhaps such that there might have been fair legal grounds

Mr. Low sustained Mr. Campbell's views The chairman suggested that to meet the objection of Mr. Campbell, to strike out the words, "by requiring prompt reparation for this outrage," and thus as amended the res olution passed almost unanimously.

Several merchants expressed their view after the adjournment, that the meeting and its action was premature.

in reply to the application of Capt. The London Times is more moderate in its comments than the News. While denying that the federal government, on its ow position, has a right to overhaul neutral ships, it nevertheless admits that England herself has established precedents which now tell against her in this matter of the Trent, but these precedents were made under circumstances very different, it asserts, from those which now occur. England was then fighting for existence and done in those days what she would not do now nor allow others to do. In discussing the question whether Mason and Slidel were liable to capture, as belligerents or contrabands on board the Trent, the Times states as the opinion of very eminent jurists, that this was not the question to be adjudicated by the boat's erew. The legal course would have been to bring the ship itself into port for adjudication. It concludes with the expression that Englishmen will discuss the question with calmness and appeals to the federal states not to provoke war by such acts. Senator Summer read to Secretary Cameron, this morning, a warm and indignant letter from Gov. Andrew, remonstrating against the employment of Massachusetts men in the disgraceful business of slave latching as had been done on the upper Potomac. Secretary Cameron promptly referred the letter to Gen. Stone, with the emphatic request that he would see to it that the men of color who entered the camps under his command, were treated liberally, in the spirit of the orders concerning fugitives from slavery, which the secretary of war had already forwarded to the commanding generals. The gun boat Dacotah arived at St. Thomas on the 23d, and was dispatched with coal and provisions for the roquois, but missed her.

Capt. Dupout, in his communication to the navy department, dated Dec. 4th, says : The apprehension of losing possession of the bay of St. Helens, so exceedingly valuable for a harbor for its proximity to the city of Charleston, and for the command it secures of large rivers supplying the interi-or communication with South Carolina, induced him to despatch a second expedition there, under Commander Drayton, with orders to hold the island until Gen. Sherman is prepared to assume military occupation of it, when he will transfer the fort to his troops. It seems to be understood, in addition to our occupation of Beaufort, Gen. Vielle was at once to be sent with a considerable force to occupy the most important point on the new approaches to vannah, and that another force will go about the same time on a similar errand, in the direction of Charleston, to hold certain stragetic points.

FORT MONROE, Dec. 12. The Norfolk Day Book has dates from Pensacola to December 3d. There had been no further fighting, but Gen. Bragg hourly anticipated a renewal of the attack (the captain's) head off, and wounded six from Fort Pickens. The federal vessels were flitting in and out of the harbor in the most bewildering manner to the rebels.--Sometimes there would be a dozen in the evening, but all but two would disappear refore morning.

The Norfolk Day Book of Thursday was considerably excited in relation to a rumor that Norfolk is to be attacked. It suggests that additional obstructions be placed in the entrance to the harbor, and if not done by the military authorities urges that the city council take it in hand. At Richmond, Wednesday, the war excitement was high.

SOUTHERN ITEMS .-- The storm of war was xpected to burst momentarily somewhere. A dispatch dated Memphis, says: "New Madrid is now fortified; two regiments were sent there yesterday."--The rumored contemplated attack on Cairo has been abandoned. NEW YORK, Dec. 13.

The brig Thos. W. Rowland, from Rio Janeiro via St. Thomas, Nov. 27th, arrived at this port last night. Capt. Rowland states that the captain of the United States gun boat Iroquois, is entirely to blame for the escape of the Sumter. The captain of the gun boat sent a man on shore at Por

Royal with signal lights, and gave him instructions to signalize to him the movements of the Sumter, and on the night o

the 23d of November, signals were made the harbor, but no notice was taken of it by the captain of the Iroquois. His first ientenant tried to persuade him to give chase, which they could easily have done, as the Sumfer drew one foot more water than the Iroquois, but he would not hear to it saying that it would be very unpleasant for him to capture her, as he and Capt. Lem

mer had been school mates, and had sailed very much together; and Capt. Lemmer had been his superior officer. Another reason that the captain of the Iroquois gave was, that he did not wish to break the neutrality laws. The movements of the Sumter were seen from the deck of the Iroquois. The facts becoming known at St. Thomas, the greatest indignation prevailed among the Americans in port, and all others friendly to the United States.

The plate is crescent shaped, hooked at each end, and having three teeth set at irregular intervals on it. How it could have passed into his throat is difficult to account As soon as he discovered the extent of the accident, Mr. Madegan's first idea was to send at once for Dr. Strong, but afterwards thought the object might pass thro' him without difficulty. Eventually, it got into his stomach, and caused such exeruciating pain that he came into the city on Saturday morning and put himself under Dr. Strong's care. The case is one of great difficulty, and in its present stage but little can be done other than to await the operation of nature, assisted by medicine. I HE more are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite breatly upon their rest meets. In point of solvency and reliability and increable dealing, they have but five squals, and no succeivers. They are founded upon the very best securities in the world—first addess bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—securities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and lable, in times of yanic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueless. And while there are Companies entoring the field of compatition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and on-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to reliague their opationing ing all the incidents and events in their exact order, and containing the important decaments and extract from remarkable speeches. It will not be a merodiary, nor a meré enumeration of dry and maked dates, nor a compilation of slips from newlappers, but will portray in connected and hiteresting mersative, the revolutionary steps, as well as the measures of the government.

It will carefully digost all evidence—will sife all runors and reports—will fax pon facts, and correct so far as possible the errors and discrepancies incident to the hasty narratives of the newspapers.

It will be written in a style satisfate to its theme—at once graphic, curnest and limitations, introducing such personal and social incidents as may serve to show the relations of individuals and communities to the grand events of tha time.

It is true, everybody reads to newspapers, but the reports of the newspapers are the fragmentary and contradictory children of the moment, and not recovered instances afterwards bound in a handsone volume, will be a book for the family, which will be valued lifte the records of the War of Independence, or the Life of Washington, and worthy to be kept for children and grand-children, as a memorial of the present time.

It will thus prove desirable, available and satisfactory to avery clitics, every flux-ry; and is given to the jublic in the full assurance that it will command the approbation of every patrick, every Union nan, every good cliticen in our still florious statements of their condition, and without a cash sur-plus on hand sufficient to relieve their optataming risks, the above manned companies always have and keep over and above their capital twice the immunt, and in most instances four times, needed for the reinsurance of all their risks. The Nashville and the Harvey Birch.

The steamer Africa, which reached New York on Sunday, brings interesting details of the Nashville and Harvey Birch affair, of which we have already published a brief peatedly while on board the steamer, in telegraphic account. The Nashville ran the Charleston blockade on the night of the 26th of October.-When she started the weather was thick and cloudy, but just as she was crossing the bar the weather cleared up, and the moon rose brightly, lighting up in full view to the eastward, distant about four miles, two steamers of the blockading squadron-one the United States steam frigate Susquehau-PARLOR AND KITCHEN LAMPS, propeller gun-boat. The Nashville, being under the laud and from the moon, was not seen by them. She then encountered strong northeasterly winds and very heavy seas, but made the passage to Bermuda in three and a half days.

She remained in the vicinity of Bermuda for several days, and then sailed on a cruise. Nothing of interest happened until she met with the ship Harvey Birch, on the 19th of November. The particulars of the capture and destruction of the latter vessel are thus given by the Southampton correspondent of the London Times:

About 8 o'clock last Tuesday morning, (19th October) when in latitude 49° 6′ N., longitude 9° 52′ W., the Nashville fell in with the American ship Harvey Birch, Captain Nelson, bound from Havre to New York in ballast, with the American flag flying. She ran alongside her, as was stated to us, opened her ports and ordered the ship to heave to, the flag to be hauled down, and the captain to come on board immediately. This was done, and Captain Nelson soon returned to his ship with orders from the captain of the Nashville for all the crew to get their things ready as soon as possible, and go on board the Nashville, as they intended to destroy the Harvey Birch. They were allowed an hour or an hour and a half for this purpose and got part of their things out. The men from the steamer took most of the provisions, with the ship's chronome-ter, barometer, and some of the charts, permilting Captain Nelson to retain his own chronometer, but he has lost $1,200 or $1,-Directors and Shareholders in N. Y. 100 worth of personal effects, books, charts, etc. They then set fire to the ship fore and att, apparently in the deck house, and the vessel was soon in flames for stem to stern. The three masts were seen to go over the side, and the bull was still burning when the steamer left her. The Harvey Birch was a full rigged ship, of 1,780 tous, American measurement, and cost about $125,000 n her construction. She bad a total of twenty-nine souls on board, including Mr. Blydenburg, (a son of her owner,) who was a passenger, Capt. Nelson, two mates, two boatswains, cook, steward, carpenter, and twenty seamen. The men were put in irons on board the steamer (with the exception of the captain and mate, who were treated with great politeness,) and kept as prisoners until the arrival of the vessel here this morning, when they were immediately landed in the docks and set at liberty, with all the personal effects belonging to them. It is stated that, before they were put in irons, the confederate oath was tendered to the men, which they refused to take; but Capt.

Nelson tells us that he is not aware of the fact, although it may be correct. Immediately on landing, Captain Nelson waited upon Captain Britton, the American consul at this port, who has caused the crew to be temporarily boarded at the Sailor's Home, and made arrangements for them to be forwarded home to New York in the Hansa steamer, which sails hence on Wednesday next, Captain Britton has also put himself in communication with Mr. Adams, the American minister in London, and made that gentleman acquainted with all the facts of the case. On leaving the Nashville, Captain Pegram told Captain Nelson that he hoped they would not part bad friends, for what had been done a simple act of retaliation on the northern states for invading their territories, burning their houses, ill treating their women and consisting in part of stealing their negroes, and they were bound silk, FUR, FELT. WOOL. STRAW, PANAMA to retaliate on the property of the north in and LEGHORN

About 12 o'clock the Nashville steamed into dock, where, as mentioned above, she now lies; and, soon after she was berthed, Capt. Parley, the admiralty superintendent of mail packets at this port, went on board and had an interview with the Captain. Col. Peyton, an agent of the southern confedercy, and his wife, were on board the

Nashville, and left for London on the 3 o elock train. The Captain states that the Nashville has put in here to have her top-deck taken off, and to be fitted out as a vessel of war: but how far this intention will be found to square with the legal and international bearings of the case, remains to be seen.-The arrival of the vessel here, under the circumstances, and her lauding prisoners of war as they are called, is looked upon by many persons us an intraction of the Queen's proclamation of neutrality.— Groups of politicians and commercial men have been actively dicussing the knotty points involved in the question, and sundry messages have passed up and down the telegrabh wires during the day in relation to the subject. It is stated she has some spare officers on board for ships building or preparing in England for the confeder-

PROTEST OF CAPT, NELSON. Capt. Nelson's account of the capture of his ship is embraced in his published protest. In most respects it agreees with Pegram's statement, but asserts that the latter made no claim that the Nashville helonged to the confederate navy. We quote the material portions of the protest.

After arriving on board of the steamer we saw that the Harvey Birch was in flames and the second lieutenant returned on board the steamer with his boat, which was secured, but the ship's quarter boats, which had been used in communicating, were cast adrift. Capt. Pegram now said, "Now as it is all over, we will give her a gun," or words to that effect, and a gun was discharged at her, but apparently without hitting her. The steamer was then put on an easterly course, the crew of the ship having been previously put in irons. I, with my officers, was summoned to the captain's cabin, and there signed at the renuest of the captain, a document stating that we would not take up arms against them while in their custody, he having said that I and my officers should have our lib-erty on board when we had signed it. I was frequently told that an oath would be exacted of us " not to take up arms against the confederate states" before I could be liberated, but I was liberated without any

The steamer steamed up the English Channel, and arrived at Southampton at about 8 A. M., on the 21st inst., and came to anchor in the river. Capt. Pegram then told me that I and my crew were at liberty and might go on shore, but he refused to put us on shore, and I therefore employed a steam tng at my own expense, and landed my crew in Southampton docks between 9 and 10 A. M., and they were taken charge of by the United States consul there. Reconversations with her officers. I was told she was not fitted out as a vessel of war, that she was on a special message to Eug land, but naval officers were in command of her. I was told by one of the crew that the crew originally signed articles at Charleston, S. C., to go to Liverpool, but that before sailing the officers were all changed, and new articles were brought on board, which the crew were compelled to sign by threats of force. I was also informed that the crew was composed of English and Irish. The chronometer and barometer belonging to the Harvey Birch were taken by Capt. Pegram, who refuses to deliver them up. The Harvey Birch was a ship six years old of 1,482 tons register. Before we lost sight of the ship her

The public have been swindled by spurious machines made in initiation of ours. The metal in them, from the iron casting to the smallest piece, is of poor quality. Their makers have not the means to do their work well. They are hid away in secret places, where it would be impossible to hat he at their command the proper mechanical appliances. It is only by doing a great husiness, and having catensive manufacturing establishments, that good machines can be made at moderate prices. The best designed machines, Badly Made, are always it ble to get out of order, and are sore to cost considerable trouble and money to keep them in repair. The qualities to be looked for in a machine are: certainly of correct action at all rates of speed, simplicity of construction, great durability and rapidity of operation with the least labor. Machines to combine these essential qualities, must be made of the best metal and faith of to perfection. We have the ways and means, on egrand scale, to do this.

The purchasers of machines, whose daily bread it may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as slow rates of speed, but last long in the linest possible working order. The Worshippers of Slavery Alarmed.

"Abolition," "Abolition." The "abolitionists are for this measure or against that," is the burden of the cry of the semi-secession sheets all over the country. They have forgotten the rebeis, who have committed every crime and outrage against the constitution, the laws and the rights of man, and turn their exclusive attention to maligning those who are in favor of putting an end to civil war, by a vigorous use of all means that will aid in accomplishing that purpose. These people, who are nothing if they are not politicians, hate the abolitionists as they call all true men in favor of killing the cause of the rebellion, now that it has given us the opportunity, just in proportion to their: friendship to Jeff. Davis and his minions, and in the revival of their old party grudges they have not only forgotten the rebels, but no longer remember their country. They eagerly desire to re-establish their old defunct party organization, by which they hope to thrive and prosper, whether the

Their nearest and dearest friend being dead, the orphans of a rotten old party would go about mourning for something wherewith to gain public attention, that the "loaves and fishes" might again be theirs. They shriek at the abolitionists with a note of despair quite pitiable, every time it is proposed to take the slaves away from their rebel masters. Though they see the negro used against us in every possible way that men can be employed in war, they are horrified at the thought of touching him. Let him feed his master, that that master may have time to shoot our soldiers; let the slave build forts to shield traitors; let him stand in the ranks and fire vollies at our patriotic volunteers : but don't you touch him for that, you "abolitionists." The poor devotees of Juggernaut, or believers in the sacred alligator, do not look "institutions" than the American pro-slavery partisan does upon his god-Slavery. Though it crashes his brother he will cling to it-though it devours, with its insatiable and cruel jaws, his country and everything dear to him, he forgets all else, and rusbes to its defence when it is threatened. But thank God, the number of those weak worshippers of American slavery, is lessensoon come when the "howling Dervises" of a pro-slavery party will cry "abolition" in vain to a people who will appreciate, and therefore despise them.

Neutrality and Friendship.

One of Jeff. Davis' pirates having overtaken an unarmed American vessel, makes prisoners of the crew, robs them of their property and burns the ship. He then sails with his plunder into an English port, where he is received, protected, and all English law, is denied. This is English friendship towards us. The neutrality conwith the regular government-in regarding the American nation with its immense commerce and numerous ships, as of no more consequence, and entitled to no more respect, than a band of rebels, without commerce, and possessing no ships, except those they have stolen. It strikes us that such friendship as this is like that which seeks a good opportunity to stab us "under the fifth rib," and the neutrality is so perway." It should be a reminder to our gov-"friends" who are coming.

thorized by the war department to organize the young shoulders on which the armor of a fifth regiment from that state.

The Mason and Slidell case in England.

As was naturally to be expected, the public mind was somewhat excited in England, upon learning of the forcible seizure of Ma. son and Slidell on board the British steamer Trent. We think it will turn out, however, that the meeting in Liverpool on the receipt of the news, was instigated by secesion emissaries, and their sympathisers. such an occurrance and make the most of it for their own advantage. It will be seen that opinions were not unanimous that the alleged outrage was of such a nature as to demand immediate reparation, and the original resolution was considerably modified. John Bull will take time to consider, and may cool his passion by reading the history of his own acts, on occasions similar to that which transpired between the San Jacinto and the Trent. It will, doubtless, give us the renewal of abusive editorials in the this country, but nothing serious will grow out of it, unless England is determined to quarrel with us.

The question of our right to capture Mason and Slidell, in the manner in which it was done, has already been decided by the Pickens. The result of the fight, so far as | English government in our favor. It was given by the Queen's Law Officers in reference to the U.S. steamer James Adger which has been cruising in British waters, for the purpose, as is supposed, of intercepting the confederate ministers, who, it was thought, would come out on the Nashville. The decision referred to is as follows:

"It was the opinion of the law officers of the crown that, according to the interpretation of the law as laid down in former decisious, the relations of Britein to the American belligerents are perhaps such that there might have been fair legal grounds for the American cruiser seizing the mail steamer as a prize even in British waters, is it could have been shown that she knowing ly harbored the persons and property of ene-mies of the United States in the shape of the delegates and their dispatches."

It will be acarcely possible for the captain of the Trent to assume that he did not know that Mason and Slidell were rebel delegates or ministers, for it was known to the British consul at Havana, and to the public generally at that place. As to the dispatches, even if none were found, it cannot make the slightest difference whether they were written or verbal. That Mason and Slidell went to Europe as the agents of the rebel government, is admitted in Jeff. Davis' message to his congress, which is evidence enough of the character of their mission. It is not probable, therefore, that the English government will take serious exceptions to the act of Com. Wilkes.

Here a man in the congregation, rising swiftly, interrupted him and asked permission to controvert that sentiment. MORNING DESPATCHES. NEW YORK, Dec. 12. The Hansa brings the London Times of They would naturally take advantage of the 28th, which contains the account of the meeting in Liverpool. The following placard was posted on change: "Outrage on the British fleg! Southern commis sioners forcibly removed from a British mail steamer!! A public meeting will be held in the cotton sales room at 3 o'clock.' The room was crowded to excess. The chair was occupied by James Spence, who read the following resolution: Resolved, That this meeting, having heard with indignation, that an American federal ship of war has forcibly taken from a British mail steamer, certain passengers peaceably under the shelter of our flag, from one neutral port to another, do ear-Times and the tory papers generally, against this country, but nothing serious will grow the dignity of the British flag, by requiring prompt reparation for this outrage.

This resolution was received-with great enthusiasm. This resolution was advocated by the chairman, who considered he was expressing the feeling of the people, when he said it was the duty of the people to impress on the government the importance and necessity of vindicating the honor and dignity of the British name and flag.

Mr. John Campbell considered there was reason to doubt whether the facts related and acted on by this meeting were in reality a breach of international law, and referred to the opinious of the law officers of the crown, as being in some measure inclined to show that such a step as taken with respect to southern commissioners, was justifiable under the existing state of international law, and urged the propriety of postponing the consideration of the subject

Mr. Low sustained Mr. Campbell's views. The chairman suggested that to meet the objection of Mr. Campbell, to strike out the words, "by requiring prompt reparation for this outrage," and thus as amended the resolution passed almost unanimously.

Several merchants expressed their views after the adjournment, that the meeting and its action was premature.

In reply to the application of Capt. Nelson for a warrant to search the Nashville, to recover certain property belonging to him and the owners of the ship Harvey Birch, Earl Russell directed his secretary to reply that he cannot authorize the magistrates to issue such warrant, and declined to interfere in the matter. The application was made on the recommendation of Minister Adams.

The dispatches of the commissioners es caped the vigilance of the officers of the San Jacinto, and safely arrived in the Lapland, in charge of a gentleman of the par On arrival at Southampton, the remainder of Slidell's and Mason's families and suite, went on board the Nashville, and the next day the despatches were taken to London. No repairs have yet been commenc ed on the Nashville.

The London Times is more moderate in its comments than the News. While deliging that the federal government, on its own position, has a right to overhaul neutral ships, it nevertheless admits that England herself has established precedents which now tell against her in this matter of the Trent, but these precedents were made under circumstances very different, it asserts, from those which now occur. England was then fighting for existence and done in those days what she would not do now nor allow others to do. In discussing the question whether Mason and Slidel were liable to capture, as belligerents or contrabands on board the Trent, the Times states as the opinion of very eminent jurists, that this was not the question to be adjudicated by the boat's crew. The legal course would have been to bring the ship war by such acts. The rebel steamer Bermuda arrived at Havre on the 24th from Savannah with 2,000 bales of cotton, and was discharging on the 25th.

House adjourned till Monday. Private advices from New Mexico say the report is that the strong forces which have been sent against the Texans in the Mesilla Valley, have driven the enemy far back into Texas. NEW YORK, Dec. 12.

A private letter from on board the steam er Richmond, which took part in the fight at Fort Pickens, dated Nov. 23d, states that the vessel commenced bombarding Fort McRae at ten o'clock on the 22d The writer states that he had been compli menting the captain of one of the guns on the accuracy of his aim, when a shell continued in the same capacity by General bounded through our bulwarks, took his Banks, and the remaining furniture will be (the captain's) head off, and wounded six men. This shell, on exploding, raised the ship out of water and made her stagger like a druuken man. Another shell burst six feet below the water line, causing a bad leak, but the steam pumps kept the vessel free. The firing continued all day, and was resumed by the enemy next morning, when we moved out of his range. The frigate Niagara still kept at them, but being outside the bar, she cannot be much damaged. Fort Pickens had, up to date, lost but one man killed and seven wounded.

Fort McKae is much damaged, but we cannot destroy it with our smooth hore guns, as they are no match for the enemy's rifled cannon. The bombardment was to be renewed the next day, 23d, with the determination to whin or be whipped. Since leaving the passes of the Missis sippi several vesssels had managed to escape. A Spanish vessel had come down with a number of fugitive Spaniards, to escape impressment, who report that the rebels had three iron-clad steam battering rams ready to repel attack, each carrying eighteen to twenty of the heaviest guns, and additional steam rams and five fire rafts were being constructed.

NEW YORK, Dec. 12. A letter from Key West of the 5th inst., states that their Pensacola dates are of the 26th ult. It appears that the rebel steamers have been plying between the navy yard and town constantly, carrying guns, munitions, &c. Col. Brown notified Bragg that he should fire on them, to which Bragg replied, "fire away." On the morning of the Brown disabled one, the other escaped. A general cannonade then took place between Fort Pickens and Fort Barrancas, the Niagara and Richmond opening on Fort Mc-Rac and several water batteries. The engagement lasted nearly two whole days .--IcRae was silenced, and also the water batteries in reach of the Richmond's guns. articles of war for giving aid to the enemy. No person injured on the Niagara. James Cook was the person killed on the Richmond. Both vessels were slightly damaged in their upper works. wounding many others. Col. Brown says he has Fort Barraneas at his mercy, and is waiting reinforcements to hold the forts. when he shall take them. Another letter states that one of Wilson's Zouaves was killed and another wounded on the 22d .--

About 200 guns were fired in the two days. At 3 o'clock P. M. on the 23d, Warrington was set on fire by our guns, and that place and nearly all the navy yard destroyed. The steamer Times was disabled by the first shot. The rebel fire slackened on the 2d day. Two companies of Wilson's Zonaves have charge of the batteries near the fort; two companies are assisting in the fort, and the remainder of the regiment have work in the trenches, to repel midnight

The heaviest rabel guns are near the light house. Their best mortars on both sides of the hospital. The water battery below Fort McRae is a bad customer. The ranges of our artillerymen are splendid. A note dated the 24th, states that Col.

Brown prohibited firing unless the rebels first opened. One of our guns burst yesterday. The rebels have evidently suffered WASHINGTON, Dec. 12. Tribune's correspondence.-William H. Johnson, of the Lincoln cavalry, has been sentenced to be shot and will be executed to-morrow.

Senator Sumner read to Secretary Cameron, this morning, a warm and indignant letter from Gov. Andrew, remonstrating against the employment of Massachusetts men in the disgraceful business of slave clatching as had been done on the upper Potomac. Secretary Cameron promptly referred the letter to Gen. Stone, with the emphatic request that he would see to it that the men of color who entered the camps under his command, were treated liberally, in the spirit of the orders concerning fugitives from slavery, which the secretary of war had already forwarded to the commanding generals.

New York, Dec. 12.

The brig T. W. Roland, from Rio, via St. Thomas, 27th November, confirms the reported escape of the Sumter from Martinique. The Iroquois returned to St. Thomas on the 25th. The gun-boat Dacotah arrived at St. Thomas on the 23d, and was dispatched with coal and provisions for the Iroquois, but missed her. Capt. Dupont, in his communication to the navy department, dated Dec. 4th, says: The apprehension of losing possession of the bay of St. Helena, so exceedingly valuable for a harbor for its proximity to the city of Charleston, and for the command it secures of large rivers supplying the interior communication with South Carolina, induced him to despetch a second expedition there, under Commander Drayton, with or ders to hold the island until Gen. Sherman is prepared to assume military occupation of it, when he will transfer the fort to his troops. It seems to be understood, in addition to our occupation of Beaufort, Gen. Vielle was at once to be sent with a considerable force to occupy the most important point on the new approaches to Savannah, and that another force will go about the same time on a similar errand, in the direction of Charleston, to hold certain etragetic points.

AFTERNOON DE SPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13. Herald's dispatch.-The President has reinstated Col. Mulligan in the command of his regiment. By an order of Gen. Halleck's, the commissions of all regimental officers expire when their regiments are mustered out of service. Col. Muliigan and his command having been taken prisoners of war were mustered out, but an exception has been made in their case.

FORT MONROE, Dec. 12. The Norfolk Day Book has dates from Pensacola to December 3d. There had been no further fighting, but Gen. Bragg hourly anticipated a renewal of the attac from Fort Pickens. The federal vessels were flitting in and out of the harbor in the most bewildering manner to the rebels.-Sometimes there would be a dozen in the evening, but all but two would disappear ocfore morning.

The Norfolk Day Book of Thursday was considerably excited in relation to a rumor that Norfolk is to be attacked. It suggests that additional obstructions be placed in the entrance to the harbor, and if not done by the military authorities urges that the ity council take it in hand. At Richmond, Wednesday, the war excitement was high.

Southern Items .- The storm of war was appected to burst momentarily somewhere. A dispatch dated Memphis, says: "New Madrid is now fortified; two regiments were sent there yesterday."-The rumored contemplated attack on Cairo has been abandoned. The iron ram Manassas arrived at Columbus on Sunday. The Montgomery Mail of the 6th inst., congratulates its readers on the report that Old Harvey Brown has died of a wound received in the late fight at Fort Pickens.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13. The North American of this morning has the following:-A letter received in this city from an officer in the army at Port Royal, dated Hilton Head, Des. 4th, says Last night a fleet arrived with 25,000 troops. Savannah and Charleston wil soon be ours. NEW YORK, Dec. 13.

Janeiro via St. Thomas, Nov. 27th, arrived at this port last night. Capt. Rowland at the captain of the United States gun boat Iroquois, is entirely to blame for the escape of the Sumter. The captain of the gun boat sent a man on shore at Port Royal with signal lights, and gave him instructions to signalize to him the movements of the Sumter, and on the night of the 23d of November, signals were made by the man on shore that she was leaving the harbor, but no notice was taken of it by the captain of the Iroquois. His first ieutenant tried to persuade him to give chase, which they could easily have done, as the Sumter drew one foot more water than the Iroquois, but he would not hear to it saying that it would be very unpleasant for him to capture her, as he and Capt. Lemmer had been school mates, and had sailed very much together; and Capt. Lemmer had been his superior officer. Another reason that the captain of the Iroquois gave was, that he did not wish to break the neutrality laws. The movements of the Sumter were seen from the deck of the Iroquois. The facts becoming known at St. Thomas, the greatest indignation prevailed among the Americans in port, and all others friendly to the United States. The Markets.

CHERRING WORDS. - The Paris Presse of the latest date received, in an article exposing the untruth of the stories put forth by the rebel emissaries in Europe, has these significant sentences concerning the chance of foreign interference in our affairs:

"May the sentiments not displease it enemies, but the great republic of the United States will not yet perish. People will think twice, we may hope, before attacking her. We have got beyond the time when Polish partitions could be made. Oligar chic factions may for a season throw: country into confusion, but they can neither sell nor irredeemably ruin it. Nations now belong to themselves, and are not to be governed, except on condition of listening to and working towards their interest-that is to say, except on condition of realizing democracy. A war with America, whatev er may be the pretext, would be disastrous for all who should take part in it. It would for a long time be the total ruin of all in ternational commerce with that country, and America would find in the very reverses that might at first befall her arms a new stimulus that would energetically push it to seek out and bring into play the immense resources she possesses. By obliging her o know herself better, and to use the forces she has, we should strengthen in place of weakening America."

An Incident on the "Keers."-A young ady from the rural district of Hoosierdom lately visited Chicago with her beau. Geting into a city railroad car for the first ime, she took a seat, while her lover planted himself on the platform with the driver. Preity soon the conductor began to collect fare, and approaching the rustic maiden, he said-"Your fare, miss!"

The Hoosier rosebud allowed a delicate pink to manifest itself on her cheeks, and ooked down in soft confusion. The conluctor was rather astonished at this, but ventured to remark once more—
"Your fare, miss!"

This time the pink deepened to carnation, as the rustic beauty replied :
"Wall, if I am good lookin', vo ought ter say it out loud afore folks!"

The passengers roared with laughter, and the lover coming in to see what was going on, at once settled the fare.

ARRESTS FOR TREASON IN MICHIGAN. We understand that three men, charged with treason, were last week arrested by the United States marshal, in Lapeer county, and taken to Fort Lafayette. One of them is said to have objected to being handcuffed, when the marshal told him he could take his choice between the contents of a revolver or being handcuffed, when the contumacious traitor permitted himself to be shackled. We understand that these men were proven to be disloyal by certain letters they had written to parties south, which, of course, never reached their destination, but went to the dead letter office, when their treasonable contents were known and their authors ordered to be "nabbed." One of the prisoners, a Mr. Butler, is said to have formerly resided in Auburn, this county.

The plate is crescent shaped, hooked at each end, and having three teeth set at ir-regular intervals on it. How it could have passed into his throat is difficult to account for. As soon as he discovered the extent of the accident, Mr. Madegan's first idea was to send at once for Dr. Strong, but after-wards thought the object might pass thro' him without difficulty. Eventually, it got into his stomach, and caused such excruciating pain that he came into the city on Saturday morning and put himself under Dr. Strong's care. The case is one of great difficulty, and in its present stage but little can be done other than to await the operation of nature, assisted by medicine.

No surgical operation can, of course, be performed at present, and from the peculiar formation of the object, it is not easy to pass through the stomach and intestines without inflicting serious injury .- Cleveland Herald.

THE shore are First Class, justly popular, and prompt paying companies. They invite investigation into their condition and solicit business entirely upon their real merits. In point of solveney and reliability and anoncable dealing, they have but few equals, and no superiors. They are founded upon the very bust securities in the world—first class bonds and mortgages upon property in New York and Brooklyn—scenrities that have not, for the past ten years, depreciated below par, and are every way more reliable and permanent than railroad, bank, and other stocks, which are subject to the fluctuations of the market, and hable, in times of panic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become the fluctuations of the market, and table, in times of ganic, as the experience of the past teaches, to become almost, if not entirely, valueises. And while there are Companies entering the field of competition, well calculated to mislead by publishing partial and one-sided statements of their condition, and without a cash surplus on hand sufficient to relineare their outstanding risks, the above named companies always have and keep over and shove their capital twice the amount, and in most instances four times, needed for the relinearence of all their risks. With such a foundation, and with such a condition, they claim the right to look with confidence to the public for liberal patronage.

Policies issued without delay, and farms risks for a series of years taken at less rates than can be done by M. and Companies, and a certainty given instead of an ancertainty. All losses promptly adjusted and paid.

The want of an authentic and thorough History of the kebellion, for present reference and future preservation, is the subject of general remark. No work of that nature has yet been offered to the public, and all who wish for information are compelled to grope through the mazes of the rumors, reports dispatches letters and editorials of the daily newspapers, to precipitele from its confused columns, the great facts and incidents of the struggle for the Union.
